Institutional Repository:

"...a set of services that a university offers to members of its community for the management and dissemination of digital materials created by the institution and its community members."

Clifford Lynch, Executive Director of CNI
(Coalition of Networked Information)

- ✓ Supports Libraries value of "Open Access"
- ✓ Supports University's strategic goal to build its academic and research reputation

Benefits:

1) REACH broader audiences, faster.

- immediate access to your scholarly work
- satisfy funding requirements to publicly disseminate the research results
- greater visibility through Google and other search engines
- work is more visible, more frequently cited, and more likely to have greater impact

2) DEMONSTRATE research impact with monthly usage statistics.

3) ARCHIVE your scholarly and creative work, so that you know where you can always find it. You retain all previously-held rights to your works.

4) HOST a peer-reviewed journal or conference with built-in publishing tools.

The Libraries:

Collect and input materials, provide metadata, verify journal permissions, advise on copyright and author rights, etc

Materials can include (but are not limited to):

- Articles, books, chapters, conference papers/presentations
- Working papers and reports
- Theses/dissertations
- Datasets
- Multimedia
- Images and creative works
- Primary research materials
- Open educational resources
- University publications

Abstract

Traditionally, general web services used only the GET and POST methods of HTTP while several other HTTP methods like PUT, PATCH, and DELETE were rarely utilized.

Additionally, the Web was mainly navigated by humans using web browsers and clicking on hyperlinks or submitting HTML forms. Clicking on a link is always a GET request while HTML forms only allow GET and POST methods. Recently, several web

YEARBOOKS

This digital collection was generously paid for by the Friends of the Old Dominion University Libraries. It contains all of the variably-named yearbooks of the Norfolk Division of the College of William & Mary, Old Dominion College, and Old Dominion University that exist. Yearbooks were not published every year; two significant gaps are 1973-1975 and 1979-1987. The last yearbook published was 2006-07.
